H₂O Building Services lands a major framework agreement with an education provider

H₂O Building Services, the UK's leading water audit and commercial water management consultancy, has been awarded a Framework Agreement for the Provision of water auditing services to the United Learning Trust, a consortium of public and private sector schools.

The award was made on behalf of the United Learning Trust by Inspired Energy plc, the energy procurement partner to the framework, under the Official Journal of the European Union (OJEU) procurement procedure. Under the framework award, H₂O Building Services will provide a range of water auditing and management services including leak detection, provision of water saving devices, tariff optimisation, bill validation and benchmarking.

“Not only was the bid from H₂O Building Services economically advantageous”, says Jan Ashworth of Inspired Energy plc, “in our opinion it satisfied the quality criteria which we had given a high weighting.”

For the last twenty years H₂O Building Services has helped numerous public and private sector clients, from local authorities to retail and manufacturing, to save money on water. Assistance ranges from recovering refunds for historical incorrect tariff overcharging, detecting and repairing leaks and advising on water reduction measures.
